

RAIN TIES UP STREET CARS

Tunnel Blocked With Mud; Several Washouts; Motors Stick in Ponds.

Street car traffic was seriously delayed by Tuesday night's hard rain, which came from the southeast and resulted in the heaviest precipitation during the summer months. At the tunnel of the El Paso Electric Railway company under the El Paso & Southwestern railroad track near Moreland street, water and mud covered the track up to an early hour Wednesday morning, causing passengers to transfer both directions, several cars having been caught north of the obstruction.

A washout on the Government Hill car line at Houston street caused delay and at many of the north and south street intersections through the city the double track boulevard line was covered with mud and the street washed down from the mounds. The various tracks were not cleared of obstructions till Wednesday morning.

Water on Hueso Street.—Accumulated water on the 2300 block on Hueso street interfered with street car service on the Government Hill line early in the morning. The cars of the company were out before daylight on many of the circuits, with gangs of shovellers clearing the rails.

Employees of the company said no reports had been received of a street car on the Arizona line leaving the track in the 700 block and crashing into the cars. No injuries to motorists or passengers had been reported.

Stalled on Hueso Loop.—Street cars were stalled on the Hueso loop in eastern El Paso where a pond of water was reported to have backed over an acre or two of land. The Hueso loop was not damaged, it was said.

Boys Canoe on Lumber.—In front of the El Paso Lumber yard, in the 3300 block on Mills street, a whole block of ground was covered with water from two to three feet deep, and on the pond boys were canoeing Wednesday morning.

In Government Hill where the deep arroyo crosses the Government Hill street, water and mud were reported to have backed over an acre or two of land. The Hueso loop was not damaged, it was said.

LIGHTNING CUTS OUT TELEPHONES

Strikes Packing Shed in Las Cruces; Several People Are Stunned.

Las Cruces, N. M., Aug. 15.—During the storm lightning struck the packing shed of Weaver & Co., and stunned those who were in it. One person who had a telephone in his hand had it knocked out of his hand. Twenty-seven of the telephones in town were put out of commission, but have since been fixed.

Fire Commotions.—The following persons from Las Cruces who attended the training camp at the residence of the Officers Reserve Corps, have received commissions: A. G. Hill, captain, who has been training in field artillery; Carl Minnigrove, second lieutenant; William Willshaw, second lieutenant; R. W. Wickard, second lieutenant; and a month longer at the camp. He has been discharged and given a commission.

Takes 16 to Dismantle.—George Oran of Mesquite, accompanied 16 laborers to Dismantle last night. The laborers will work on the same camp.

Dieck Breaks Again.—The Las Cruces dieck broke again yesterday afternoon at the same place where the previous break occurred near the diversion point of the Arriba lateral.

A fire occurred on the west side of the canal yesterday afternoon.

Plan for Road Repairs.—At a recent conference at district road engineer C. B. Sampson and Francis E. Lester, it was decided to make a complete road repair outfit and to have the outfit employed continuously on the repair of the main roads of the county. A flag for designating the Adams-McVella dam road is being constructed.

Valley Gets Heavy Rain.—AND ELECTRICAL STORM.—August 15, N. M., Aug. 15.—Another electrical storm visited the valley tonight, accompanied by a high wind and heavy rain. The third crop of alfalfa has been saved, the rains are doing no damage and are proving beneficial.

OUT TO STOP THE "TAKE" ADS

Adeluh Hears Tentative Ordinance Against Un- truthful Advertisers.

During the noon luncheon at the El Paso Adeluh at Hotel Southern Wednesday a tentative ordinance, which will be submitted to the city council at its next meeting for action, was read, which would make it a penalty for merchants and other business men to misrepresent goods for advertising. This law has been passed by the city council of nearly every large city in the United States and it also has been made a state law by nearly all states. It was said.

When the proposed ordinance was read many of the members of the club present delivered brief talks outlining the good such a law would do for merchants and publishers alike. E. W. Adelman, secretary, outlined the methods of many "take" advertisers.

He said such an ordinance should not only be passed by the city council, but also should be rigidly enforced.

Tells of Police Book.—Recently, he said, a souvenir book was published for the benefit of the police department. The money derived from the advertisements and sale of the book was said to have been collected ten percent of the other 90 percent went to the persons who published the book. "Often advertisers would contribute a check for $100 and then their advertisements were kept out of the book," the speaker said. "I don't know why they gave this money unless it was for some purpose, but it was a very good thing."

Refers to Catholic Souvenir.—Mr. Adelman stated that often the publication of such literature was simply a "hoax" and that the advertisers were largely deceived. He said that a souvenir book of the Catholic Journal was issued and that he talked with Rev. Fr. C. J. Kelly regarding the matter. Rev. Fr. Kelly, he said, had been informed by the men getting out the souvenir that a copy would be sent to each Catholic in the city and that the same was a copy of the book. The speaker said that the advertisers were simply being deceived and that the money was being used for some purpose, but it was a very good thing.
